Happy New Year!

Many people will be pleased to welcome 2021. The past twelve months have not been what any of us expected this time a year ago, and a lot of folk will be glad to see the back of 2020. Many will enter 2021 with a sense of hope that it will be different. Others who can't manage quite that much positivity are at least thinking "Well, it really can't be as bad as last year." Some, but far fewer, will look back and think that for them it was actually a good year in spite of everything.

Those who seemed to cope best with the changing restrictions, uncertainty about the future, lockdowns and stress were the ones who managed to take each day as it comes. They didn't spend too much time and worry looking to the future or get too hooked on reminiscing about a better past.

Jean-Pierre de Caussade, a Jesuit in the 18th-century, coined the phrase "the sacrament of the present moment". He wrote this: "If we have abandoned ourselves to God, there is only one rule for us: the duty of the present moment." In an explanation accompanying his translation of de Caussade's work, John Beevers writes this "over and over again, we must live from minute to minute. The past is past, the future is yet to be. There is nothing we can do about either, but we can deal with what is happening moment by moment".

Behind this is the idea that every day, every moment, is a gift from God. We won't get it again. We have the choice as to whether we welcome the moment as a time for receiving the grace of God or not. Every minute of our lives is precious. How we choose to use them is up to us.

I wonder whether this might be a good way of trying to live in 2021. For many of us it probably will be easier than 2020, but none of us knows what the future holds.

With best wishes for a fulfilling year
Sarah

THIS MAGAZINE HAS A VACANCY FOR AN

ADVERTISING MANAGER

Regular readers will know that we run advertisements for local businesses which we hope helps them and our readership, and those advertisements in return, help to fund this magazine and keep it in existence.

With only one exception, all of the roles which work together to create this magazine each month are taken on by volunteers who live in the villages it serves, and that includes the person who takes care of the advertising within.

If you have an interest in people and effective communicating skills, alongside being able to offer a little of your time, please get in touch. Our small, enthusiastic group works hard to bring this publication to around 350 purchasers every month - and we will happily tell you what that commitment involves and answer any query you may have.

We may not be able to pay you, but volunteering has its own rewards!

'Quarantine' - the 2020 word of the year

The Cambridge Dictionary has named 'quarantine' as its 'word of the year' for 2020. Apparently, it was the word most looked up between January and October of last year. 'Quarantine' even beat 'pandemic' and 'lockdown'.

The Cambridge Dictionary has now added a new meaning to the word 'quarantine'. It runs: 'A general period of time in which people are not allowed to leave their homes or travel freely, so that they do not catch or spread a disease.'

The editors are also considering some possible new words for the dictionary. These include 'Quaranteam' (a group of people who go into quarantine together), Lockstalgia (a feeling of nostalgia for the lockdown period), and Coronial (someone born around the time of the pandemic).

Puddletown Football Club update:

A premature end to last season due to the first lockdown left us frustrated. The first team had managed to get to the final of the Dorset Junior Cup, which was never played and a feeling of "what if" still remains.

Some good news at this point was, as the season finished we were top of Dorset League division three and as a result were promoted to division two.

The second team, made up of mainly 16/17 year olds, held their own very well and as the season finished had picked up some great points and some good wins. If we could keep these youngsters together, we could see good progress.

Unfortunately, the lockdown also put pay to plans for our annual charity match, which was due to be played in May. These plans will be put on hold until we can get players and supporters, old and new, together for another great day at the Recreation Ground.

With the start of season 20/21 delayed for a week or two because of the restrictions, the friendly games were at a premium, but we made the most of what we were allowed to do and looked forward to the season.

A great start was made by both teams, the seconds, now a year older and more experienced, picked up some great points in division five and look stronger in all departments. The first team, now up into division two, carried on as they left off and when lockdown two hit, we sat top of the league.

The Dorset League has decided not to give fixtures until the 9th of January 2021 but both sides have cup matches in December to focus on.

We have to mention our great sponsors, Emma and Graham Hill of Redefine Hair Salon Poundbury. They have not only continued to support us during these difficult times with playing kits for the second team, but they have also given up their sponsorship rights on the shirts to The Anthony Nolan Trust. This charity has been set up to save the lives of people with blood cancer and blood disorders, which has directly helped one of our players in his younger days.

Hopefully, we can return to normal soon and have a continuous season of football. Until then, stay safe everyone, up the Puddle!

With thanks to: Redefine Hair Salon Poundbury - 01305 262652

Puddletown Wreath Festival

A huge thank you to all who submitted the 51 wreaths we received for our first Puddletown Wreath Festival and also to those who helped organize, baked cakes and attended on the day.

We were delighted with a fantastic variety of wonderfully creative entries.

2020 has been a difficult year for so many and has kept us from meeting in up in our village. However, this was such a lovely event to begin our festive season and to celebrate the creativity in our community from our youngsters, their parents and our older folk.

A huge well done to all the children and adults who participated. There were so many entries including unicorns, a bicycle wheel, lego, boats, reindeers, a Christmas pudding and many more fantastically imaginative wreaths.

Sarah certainly had a hard job choosing the winners and congratulations in the children's entries go to Milo & Woody who won 1st prize, to class 7SD in St. Mary's who won 2nd prize and to Betty who won 3rd prize. 'Well Done' rosettes were also given to Class 7B, Arthur, Dotty and to Woody & his Grandad.

Milo & Woody's wreath

The adults did a great job, with 1st prize going to Bob, 2nd prize to Diana and 3rd prize to Rosie.

Bob's winning entry

The day's event was also a reminder that despite it all, we have so much to be grateful for, with the steady flow of visitors demonstrating how fortunate we are to live in such a caring and kind community.

Let's hope next year we can be mask-free, enjoy some mulled wine and mince pies together and perhaps even some better weather!

Parish Council Update

The Parish Council is currently meeting remotely on the second Tuesday of each month in order to comply with current government guidance. These meetings are still open to members of the public and information about how to join the meeting is included at the bottom of each agenda. Any member of the public wishing to raise an issue or make representations relating to an agenda item will be given the opportunity to participate. Alternatively, any comments can be emailed to the Clerk in advance of the meeting at puddletown@dorset-aptc.gov.uk.

Councillors are grateful to all residents of Tolpuddle who responded to the recent Village Survey. All responses will be collated and considered in the new year.

A number of recent concerns have been raised about parking throughout Puddletown. There is a lack of off road parking available and the Parish Council is using the Neighbourhood Plan to ensure that future developments include sufficient off road parking, however, all residents are asked to please park considerately on the roads and ensure that they are leaving enough space for emergency vehicles to pass.

At its November meeting the Council was updated on the sale of the Martyrs Inn. The buyer has pulled out and the public house is back on the market. The Parish Council will continue to monitor the situation and is prepared to oppose any sale which would lead to a change of use.

There has been an increase in crime and anti-social behaviour recently in the local area. PCSO Donnison reminds us all of the importance of reporting all non-urgent incidents to the police either via 101 or online at <https://www.dorset.police.uk/do-it-online/>. In an emergency, always dial 999.

The Parish Council has commissioned speed surveys for Lower Waterston and Troy Town and will push for 30mph limits to be introduced at these locations. It is likely that petitions will be required and the more signatures that we are able to acquire, the more likely we are to be successful. Please bear this in mind when the petitions are publicised.

Calling all Residents of Burleston and Athelhampton!

Puddletown Area Parish Council is preparing a survey to go out to all residents of Burleston and Athelhampton. We want to know your views on community matters and how the Parish Council can improve community life. The survey will be delivered to you all in February so keep an eye on your post.

The Parish Council tries to represent views of all members of our community and will soon be installing new noticeboards in Burleston and Athelhampton to make sure that all residents have access to the most up to date information. However, Athelhampton and Burleston have no members on the Parish Council at present. If you would be able and willing to give up one evening a month to support your community by joining the Council, please contact the Clerk at puddletown@dorset-aptc.gov.uk or on 01305 849596. No experience required!

REFURBISHING DORSET PROPERTIES WITH A QUALITY SERVICE

A Month on the Farm

Looking forward to spring all the ewes were scanned in exactly the same way as our human mothers are, other than in the middle of a cold field. This was done at the beginning of December, to find out those sheep which were in lamb and for a management means how many lambs they might be having so extra feed can be given to ones with twins and other bigger multiplies.

The group of cattle on the mustard crop have been moved now to a field of turnips up on the hill above Cheselbourne and this 20 acre field has now been sown with wheat. As too has the grass field behind the grain store, this had been down to grass for two years and had been used for grazing and cutting of both silage and hay over that time, but now as an experiment it was sprayed off and wheat seed was direct drilled into the ground in part of the field this was to prevent disturbance of the soil structure and the possible releasing of carbon and nitrogen. The other half of the field was traditionally ploughed with a furrow press dragged behind to level out the furrows, the seed drill then followed behind, and over the winter and into next year we will see how each half fares, with the final result being at harvest and yields.

All throughout the recent Lockdown, we brought some of the cattle in from the fields by driving them along the roads and were surprised about the amount of traffic, where as in the spring lockdown it was wonderful for moving livestock around!

The damp, dull days of December have not helped those family members working in the fields, especially as fences have to be moved daily and straw and silage topped up in ring feeders, but also young calves which are happy with cold dry weather being kept warm bedded deep on straw beds but hate the warm damp weather as this can trigger pneumonia.

December is usually a good time to catch up with the various companies we deal with who like to drop off a calendar or diary and have a discussion about how the year has been, ideas for the future and the usual gossip which are all normally discussed around the kitchen table over a cuppa and fresh cake, not so sure it will happen this year, but hopefully we will still get the calendar and the diary!

In Memoria De

If somebody stopped me in the street and asked me that most perplexing and problematic question “what differentiates us, as humans, from the rest of the animal kingdom” my answer would have to go along the lines of the former's full comprehension of the concept of ‘past’ and its innate ability to study and draw conclusions from it. I am not subscribing to the view that animals have no idea of the past only that any such comprehension is relatively simple and restricted in time scale. Indeed, at times, it appears that mankind is obsessed with past events stretching, as it does, right back to its very beginnings.

This studying of the past goes under a multitude of different titles; we have for instance historical, heritage and of course, culture. Each carry with it a different emphasis defining what is important; there is, for instance a subtle difference between historical fact and heritage. However we define what constitutes our investigative process into the past there is one constant factor, and it is an important one; any investigative process into what has gone before is heavily reliant upon the existence, and role, of monuments.

The dictionary's definition gives us a good starting point as to how we should view and treat monuments; they are, simply put 'structures erected to commemorate a person or events'. It is a nice broad definition and is as good a description of what constitutes a monumental structure. Indeed, if one were to enquire of the average person what they saw as a monument, the answer would invariably be either a gravestone or, more probable, a war memorial. This should come as no surprise since these are the type of memorial structure most contemporary people will come into contact with. However, when we board our time machine and delve deeper into the past, we still see monuments, but these are in a different form. In fact, we are surrounded by monuments from the past; we know that Dorset is rich in prehistorical burial mounds and a variety of other structures dating way back into antiquity. These are no less a testimony to the erection of memorial structures than say the placement of a modern-day gravestone or construction of a memorial to a battle or contemporary event in history. I guess what I am trying to get across is that there exists a deeper meaning to 'memorial' than the broad definition I gave earlier.

Memoriae in which ever shape and form they take are a visible and tangible link to the past. They fix events of the past into place and, more importantly, act as a social weather gauge. These latter points are fundamental to an understanding of why such memorials are placed in the first instance and anyone who has been involved in the placement of such quickly realises there is much to be considered in doing so.

I remember how, during the course of my work into the tragic explosion of 1931 at Holton Heath, I mused upon the most salient of points; despite the magnitude of this event and the loss of ten lives there existed no monument to this saddest of circumstances. Pondering out aloud, Emma in her usual matter of fact way merely stated the obvious “well go out and place one”. It was the most obvious of solutions and was, in all probability, staring me in the face and that was how the RNCF Blackhill Memorial had its birth.

Now I must say from the onset, placing a memorial is not easy as it may seem! The very act of establishing a suitable and relevant site, locating who actually owns the land and then approaching them are all fraught with potential problems and disappointment. Luckily I was lucky enough to find an ideal placement point 50 yards away from the point of the explosion and finding out the landowner was not too bad; moreover finding the landowner to be highly sympathetic and understanding was a significant bonus! Equally fortuitously was meeting up with Gill Sharman, the grand daughter of Robert Rubie Taylor one of the ten. Together we made the dream a reality. With donated monies, including a substantial one from the landowner himself a block of Purbeck stone was obtained from Keates Quarry near Swanage; this was ideal since Keates is a family owned business and it just seemed altogether ‘right’. Naturally, the other key person in all of this was the man who would carve the stone and it was finally decided that this would be a self-employed Wareham stonemason, Alan Davis. It seemed everything was falling into place and all looked set to have the memorial dedicated on the anniversary of the explosion something that I had never imagined possible when we first embarked upon the project. I guess that the Blackhill Memorial is ‘living’ proof that a band of people, with a firm purposeful intention and working towards a common goal, can achieve almost anything. And this was to be the case for, on the morning of the 23rd June 2015, the Blackhill RNCF Memorial was dedicate, by the Rev. Canon Jean deGaris in front of representatives of the Dorset Echo, BBC radio Solent and a crowd of 40 people. So, this slab of Purbeck stone ‘came to life, a testimony to tragedy embodied in living rock.

The important thing that I learnt, personally was the value of memorials is that they are a direct reminder of the past; they are literally snapshots of time which can be used in a variety of different ways. They can be used to mark out sections of a pilgrimage thereby acting as a ‘route planner’ for those walking the spiritual way or, as they frequently are, used as focal points in local folk law.

The Purbeck stone RNCF memorial being prepared in Keates quarry. The stone was removed by Kevin Keates (Left) and carved by Allan Davis (right)

The Dolmen, known locally as the ‘Hellstone’ may indeed not have been thrown by the devil in a game of demonic quoits but it remains, none the less, in all probability, the oldest man made structure in Dorset and a lasting reminder, a fitting memorial, to the spirituality of the past inhabitants of this picturesque county.

Giving gifts of HOPE

When Angie Godsell’s husband died she had an idea, which she says, “I couldn’t shake off.”

She explained, “I sadly lost my husband, after a long illness with vascular dementia, at the end of February. I was looking for a way to commemorate his life, when I heard about the booklet – Hope in Uncertain Times.

“I ordered 25 initially, but then was so struck by the presentation and clear Christian message, that I thought it would be brilliant if every home in the parish I live in, could receive a copy.”

Having shared the idea with friends “in case it was one of my mad ideas, and so they could pray about it too.” Angie says she was “really excited to be able to do something in memory of Ken that has the potential to give real life to those who receive it”.

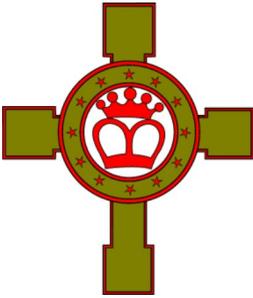

She ordered 1,000 copies of the booklet and had labels printed to put on inside front cover with a personal message explaining that the gift was to commemorate Ken’s life, “sharing the message, which was so central to his life”.

Angie attends St Giles Church in Bredon, near Tewkesbury in Gloucestershire and has bought the booklets to be delivered in Bredon and also to homes in the surrounding villages of Kinsham, Westmancote and Bredon’s Norton. People in the village who usually give out Christian Aid envelopes, have agreed to help distribute the booklets.

Copies of Hope in Uncertain Times are available for just £1 each, 25-49 copies are 50p each and 50+ copies 30p each, form www.hopetogether.org.uk/shop

St Mary's Middle School

Happy New Year!

A new building has slowly taken shape over the last few months. It is called The Bridge which stands for Building Resilience, Independence, Developing Growth and Enjoyment. It is part of Dorset County Council's plan to create specialist resourced provisions for students with complex communication needs linked to mainstream schools. Our vision at St Mary's is that while a student will have been allocated a place at the provision, all the students will be included as part of the school, have a tutor group and be within lessons with their peers as much as possible. The vision is not a separate place cut off from the rest of the school, but a learning resource that is accessible to all. We have a team of 4 specialist teaching assistants who joined the Education for All department at the beginning of September alongside a specialist lead teacher in complex communication needs.

I am delighted to inform you that in PE we started our inter-house competitions again before Christmas, although non-competitive sports are still great for the children; representing their house gives them the sense of belonging to part of a team. The chosen event to start with was cross-country, we gave this opportunity to the extremely well organised year 8s - who exceeded our expectations on the day of the event. I would like to say thanks again to all those who were involved in this event, whether they were a marshall or a runner, everyone did an amazing job which allowed a faultless operation.

I'd like to congratulate St Mary's for taking part in this year's Children in Need. Everyone did an amazing job donating online and bringing money into school. The total raised was £789.25. A fantastic effort by all, well done!

St John's Church Tolpuddle—January 2021

Here we are in a New Year- and let us hope we can put behind us those bleak months of lock down and tiers and look forward to the introduction of vaccines and other tests. It has been a testing year for us all- for the NHS, for Care Homes, for those isolated away from families and friends, for those who have lost jobs and businesses and indeed for our church. It was with such sadness that we had to close the doors completely for several months and only have services for short periods and even then restricted by numbers, but there were a variety of on line services for those able to access computers.

However as I write this at the beginning of December I KNOW that we have plans for the future- we are holding Carol Services (limited by numbers and the fact the congregation are not allowed to sing) and a different kind of Crib Service, and regular Sunday services are commencing. We are again very grateful to Hollands Barn from Tincton who have given us a beautiful Christmas Tree to enhance the decorations tastefully prepared by Marion.

Marion and the Events Team were all very busy though Lockdown 2 creating St John's Stars- a natural door hanging and these were given to every house in the village (including Southover) to show the village that there is still a community life, and that together we can pull through this difficult time. We all know that we want our church to survive and thrive.

In addition to this Abi King and Fiona Cope have arranged a village "Lighting Up"- which will be raising funds for the church and also Dorchester Hospital Maternity Unit Bereavement Suite Re-vamp Fund. They have nearly 40 entries and the children will be voting for their favourite house over the next few weeks. To support them in this we are hoping to hold a Christmas Market (weather permitting!) to sell some home made goodies and have some distanced fun together.

Yes- we are certainly a community- 18 of the windows around the village are hiding little elves with a name of an ingredient which together will make a Christmas Treat- this has given us all so much fun- thank you Jo.

Meanwhile the PCC have already met to discuss the findings of the Quinquennial survey, aware that the funds in the fabric account have been badly hit without congregations. Why parking your car is getting more difficult

Have you noticed that it is getting harder to park your car? And that when you finally do get parked, you can barely get the door open enough to squeeze out?

It is not your fault. Modern cars have grown so big that many drivers now have as little as 21cm of room to spare in a parking space.

A recent study has found that the country's most popular cars are as much as 55 per cent larger than they were in the Seventies, while the standard parking space has not grown at all. No surprise, then, that millions of drivers scrape their cars each year trying to park in cramped spaces.

The biggest grower is the Mini Hatch, which is now 55 per cent bigger and takes up to 22 per cent more of a parking space than the original did, back in 1959. The Honda Civic of today is 1.8m wide, an increase of 44 per cent. It now takes up nearly three quarters of a standard parking bay.

CarGurus, who carried out the research, has urged the authorities to update the guidelines for parking bays. The current size of a parking bay is 2.4m by 4.8m, and has not changed in 50 years.

QUICK AND EASY RECIPES FROM AROUND THE BENEFICE

I am sure like many of you, I have been overrun with apples this year. It is such a shame to see them going to waste, and so on searching to find inspiration on how I could use them up, I spotted my family's favourite apple cake recipe. It is a traybake, freezes well and always goes down a treat. It stays moist because of the layer of apple in the middle and keeps well for 2 or 3 days in an airtight tin. The recipe works with either eating or cooking apples, my favourite way is to use a combination of them both.

APPLE CAKE

Ingredients:

1lb (450g) of a mix of eating and cooking apples
Juice of half a lemon
12oz (350g) of self raising flour
2 teaspoons of baking powder
12oz (350g) caster sugar
4 eggs
Half a teaspoon of almond essence
8oz (225g) of melted butter
Flaked almonds

Method:

Pre-heat the oven to 180C/350F/Gas 4. Grease and line a deep oblong tin (11 x 9 x 2 in) 28 x 23x 5 cm with greaseproof paper.

Peel, core and thinly slice the apples, squeezing the lemon juice over them. Put the flour, baking powder and sugar in a large bowl. Beat the eggs with the almond essence. Stir this into the flour mixture together with the melted butter. Mix well then spread approximately a third of the mixture into the tin. Layer the apples on top of this and then carefully top with the rest of the mixture. (Tip - I use a spoon to put spoonfuls of the mixture over the apples and then spread that with a knife, it doesn't matter if the apples show through the top of the mixture) Generously sprinkle with the flaked almonds.

Bake in the oven for about 1 1/4 hours. I check it after one hour and if already golden cover with foil or if a skewer comes out clean remove from the oven. Allow to cool in the tin for 15 minutes before taking it out of tin and removing the paper. Once cool sprinkle icing or caster sugar on the top.

TOLPUDDLE VILLAGE HALL NEWS

Registered Charity No. 257403

At the time of writing, we expect the Village Hall will have re-opened on 2nd December for uses that comply with Government guidelines. Unfortunately, while Dorset remains in Tier 2, those uses are very limited. We believe that properly constituted exercise classes, such as yoga and pilates, are able to resume but limited to 6 with appropriate social distancing. However, no indoor socialising is permitted, so things like the weekly coffee mornings will not be able to start up again at present.

Despite these strange and difficult times, the Hall Committee is pressing on with further Hall improvements in anticipation of more normal times in the near future. In particular, we hope shortly to replace the curtains and we are in discussion with BT about installing a phone line and introducing broadband. Once that is done, we hope to invest in audio visual equipment further to expand the range of activities that the Hall can support.

This has been a very difficult year for all, not least those of us who have had to grapple with ever-changing Government rules on Covid. There are some grounds to believe that things will get better, perhaps quite quickly next year. Let us hope so. Meanwhile, the Hall Committee would like to thank everyone for their support and forbearance over the last 9 months and to wish you all a very Happy Christmas - and a normal as well as prosperous and healthy New Year.

Tolpuddle Village Survey

This is just to say a further thank you to everyone who took the time to complete the recent Tolpuddle Community Survey.

Unbelievably, there were 97 returns - a response rate of 46%. It means we should get a very good sense of what Tolpuddle and Southover residents think about the wide range of issues covered.

Do you have holiday accommodation in Tolpuddle?

We are adding an additional page to the village website (www.tolpuddlevillage.co.uk) as this is a busy holiday area with little accommodation available.

It is hoped that this will bring more business to the local area and enable more holidaymakers to enjoy our beautiful countryside.

Please email Tolpuddlemeeting@yahoo.com if you have any comments or suggestions.

I will be working with Jonathan van Baars to upload all the data from the survey onto a spreadsheet from which we will be able to generate charts and diagrams. I have already started recording the many written comments received which include a number of very useful ideas on how things can be made even better in the village.

Although the current lockdown and return to the tier system may affect how quickly we can extract the data, the aim is still to have completed the survey by early 2021, hopefully January or February.

Plants in your front garden

What's in your front garden? If it is sparse, why not consider adding some plants this year? Apparently, the presence of greenery can lower your stress levels as much as two months of mindfulness sessions. Plants can also help you to feel happier.

A recent trial study by the Royal Horticultural Society found that people who introduced ornamental plants such as juniper, azalea, clematis, lavender, daffodil bulbs and petunias had a significant lowering of the stress hormone, cortisol, and many reported that they felt 'happier'.

LIGHT UP TOLPUDDLE!

A big thank you to all in the village for taking part in this new event—for donating goodies for the Christmas Market, for organizing, for coming along and buying and to all who turned up to the Light Up Tolpuddle event and the Christmas Market in the church. The village looks amazing with all the lights! There were so many entries—45 in total took part, festooning their houses and gardens in lights—and we were completely overwhelmed by the wonderful response! Even the village phone box was decorated and entered into the competition. Given the high number of entries it proved impossible to produce a map to follow round the village (unless we wanted something the size of the ordnance survey map!) so we suggested a route instead and left it to people to wander round in their own time admiring the displays. It was so wonderful to see everyone out and about enjoying the lights and of course the market at the church. The donations from people were so generous, sweets, jams, chutneys, baking plus lots of other wonderful items. Music was played at the market by Claude & The Cats and helped to create a wonderful atmosphere. I must say you really have all come together as a community for this competition. There was also a raffle for two wonderful hampers, both filled with lovely donated goodies—one hamper for the adults and one hamper for children. The lights were fantastic and your efforts were brilliant, I cannot thank you all enough and the chosen charities will benefit greatly from the money raised. So you should all be very proud of yourselves! The prize for the winner was kept top secret—we asked for the children in the village to vote for their favourite lit up house/garden and to submit their voting slips by 22nd December. Results will be published later as at the time of writing these are not available. Also the amount of money raised from entries to Light Up and from the Christmas Market and hampers raffle is not finalised yet but the total of all the parts is thought to be in the region of £1,546.00 which will be split between the chosen charities—Dorset County Hospital Maternity Bereavement Suite and St John's church in Tolpuddle.

We are big enough to cope but small enough to care

"...and we used to grumble about not understanding archaic church language!"

Milborne St Andrews Church News

'Tis the season to be jolly'

As our Prime Minister said 'have a jolly Christmas but be jolly careful' and we are still being very careful in our church. At the moment we are all looking forward to the celebratory Christmas services and being able to welcome our Saviour and to be thankful of his birth. We were very grateful for the Advent packs distributed by Sarah with the help of Emma, it made a structure for us to follow.

The down side of the 'new' way of life over the last 9 months has been the cancellation of lots of annual events such as our first school children celebrating Christmas in our church, our Christingle service, the Christmas Market, shared refreshments after our Carol Service (mulled wine and mince pies) and all those Christmas hugs.

I am looking forward to this 2021, especially with the promise of an effective vaccine which could mean that life can start to 'open up' again – and hopefully we can sing in church again. But I expect that things will never return to the way we behaved and things we did will be the same in the new year; hopefully we will have acquired new skills (who had ever used Zoom prior to lockdown?) and will have more awareness of the needs of others and feel closer to God.

Where do we go from here?

Perhaps this was a question the Wise Men asked after seeing the infant Jesus. They had come from a distant land to Jerusalem. They had followed a star and expected to see a royal child. Now in Bethlehem, they saw things differently. No doubt, Mary and Joseph shared with these men their recent experiences and knew God was with them. Now the Magi had to have eyes of faith to recognise that this child was God in the flesh.

On 6th January many churches will celebrate Epiphany. On this day we remember the Eastern Men bringing their gifts to Jesus. The word 'epiphany' describes their 'revelation' or 'insight' that this was no ordinary baby. Who could they tell? Not King Herod. They had a dream warning them to return home a different way.

Their return to familiar surroundings was going to be different. They couldn't be silent about what they had experienced. Their lives were now changed. On returning home they faced new circumstances and challenges.

Doesn't this sound a bit familiar to us today? The Covid-19 pandemic has affected all of us in one way or another. Where do we go from here? We have celebrated our Lord's birth, but now we are returning to our previous activities. The festive break is over, and we are returning to changed, very difficult circumstances.

We go into a New Year that is so different from this time last year. While we might be downcast with all the upsets around us, there is one thing that has not changed.

It is almighty God! He is our rock. We can look to Him in this world of confusion and uncertainty. Perhaps, from now on, we shall be worshipping and serving Him in different ways. So, with the challenges that lie ahead, let's continually seek His guidance.

Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding....and He will make your paths straight. (Proverbs 3:5-6)

Milborne Ladybirds Playgroup

Glitter and Glue

Yes - It's that time of year when everything becomes sparkly and sticky. At the time of writing this the children are busy making Christmas decorations and cards. Even those more reluctant crafters are joining in to make something special for mummy or daddy.

After all that concentrating outside play is a must whatever the weather. Wrapping up warm and keeping moving are key to staying healthy. So out we all go wrapped up well although it does take a long time to get everyone dressed!

This year has been such a strange year and unsurprisingly at his age dear old Santa is having to Self-Isolate but he has got to grips with technology and has sent a recorded apology along with a promise that his young elves have managed to magically deliver presents to all children. We have had to cancel the show performed by the children for their families but there will be a DVD available instead. □

Our Christmas party will go ahead, onus on the helpers to make it a special time, because again due to COVID no entertainer or family members allowed. Fingers crossed we will be allowed a get together in the summer.

Counting the cost of coronavirus

Happy New Year! It's good to begin a new year with hope, but few of us have left 2020 unscathed by the pandemic.

For example, nearly half of us, 48 per cent, put on weight during lockdown. (According to a recent survey by King's College London and Ipsos MORI).

Millions of us turned to alcohol or drugs. Public Health England reports that one in five of us aged 45-74 are now drinking more than 21 units a week. The Royal College of Psychiatrists expresses alarm at the rapid rise in patients whose alcohol or drug use led to a decline in their mental health in 2020.

Children have suffered. Childline had nearly 43,000 calls from young people March and October. Cyber bullying has soared, with one in three children being bullied during the pandemic, according to the Anti-Bullying Alliance.

For millions of pensioners, Covid-19 'hit the fast-forward button on ageing', according to Age UK. Lockdown left old people frightened and losing their confidence, mobility and even functions such as memory.

Suicidal thoughts soared during lockdown, with the number of people seeking help tripling, to stand at more than a quarter of a million. The Royal College of Psychiatrists warn that mental health services are now 'overflowing' with patients struggling to cope with anxiety, psychosis and depression. Many charities fear that a 'second pandemic' of mental health problems.

So – what do we do as January 2021 dawns? Each one of us CAN do something to make things better, if only in a small way. How about these for your New Year Resolutions?

Firstly, just get regular exercise. As one professor said, "Exercise creates a virtuous circle of physical and mental well-being. You move more, you eat better, you feel positive." On the other hand, only a couple of weeks of lying around the house will leave your cardiovascular systems less effective, your musculoskeletal system weaker, your metabolic rate affected, and your immune system lowered.

Secondly, adopt the right mental attitude. Studies of Holocaust survivors found that those who recovered best had certain character traits of resilience: optimism, self-esteem, acceptance and above all, spirituality. A faith in God gave them purpose and meaning, even in the midst of fear and death.

Thirdly, make an effort this year to keep in touch with your friends and keep an eye out for vulnerable neighbours. Be willing to act as a safety net for others, if only to show compassion and a willingness to listen to them.

The Christmas story carries on into the New Year, with Epiphany and the arrival of the Wise Men, led by the Star in the East. Through the eyes of faith, they saw Messiah in that small baby, and worshipped him, giving gifts that foresaw his life and work. New Year is also a time of new beginnings for us – resolutions about diets and paying the bills and doing better at work... Happy New Year!

TOWER NEWS

The Bellringers

What do they do, when all the ropes are still,
When silence creeps again into her bower,
When the stunned air is quiet from its thrill,
And he, who bears the lantern, locks the tower?

John Masefield

Indeed! What do the bellringers do when the ropes are still?

At the time of writing, it has been over 13 weeks, since we last rang, on Sunday 15th March.

Well, my lockdown project was building a Lego bell tower, complete with lights and sound. It took a few weeks as I was designing it in my head as I went along and had to order various Lego bricks and accessories from Ebay every couple of days. There was a couple of sleepless nights as I couldn't decide whether to put the clock room in between the ringing chamber and belfry... and if I did that, I'd need to put a room in for the pendulum, then add the weights, so decided against it!

I had to rush completion, as Tower Talk, an on-line magazine for Ringing teachers and learners had asked for a photo for the front page of their next issue.

The messy part was making the sallies for the ropes. Having to wrap coloured string around the main "rope" with glue.

Then the finishing touches were added. A few bats, floor mats with the numbers of the bells written on them, just like we have in the tower at Puddletown, especially to help people like me, who can never remember which bell they are ringing!

Ringling methods on the wall on mini whiteboards, a clock, and what no tower is complete without, a “Henry Hoover”!

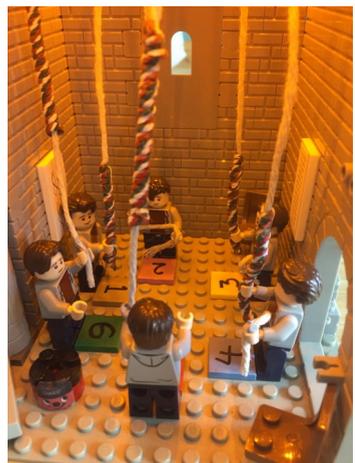

The lighting is an actual Lego lighting kit, so fitted nicely, the sound of the bells was recorded and is played on a gizmo that you put in a greeting card.

As well as the Lego tower making the front page of Tower Talk magazine, I have had a separate article printed in the April edition, about my progress in ringing, which has just been duplicated in the Ringing World magazine.... and will also be in the Salisbury Diocesan Guild newsletter along with the Lego tower, during the summer.

Other ringing related activities have included making a 6 second clip of Puddletown bells ringing rounds into a 10 minute recording, which has been played around the village on most Thursday evenings, thanks to Jim and Elizabeth Dolling and their amp and pick-up truck, enabling the village to hear “Peals on Wheels” during the absence of ringing practice that night.

As I was due to attempt my first Quarter Peal on the Treble bell the week that ringing was put on hold due to the coronavirus, I have done this on an app on my phone... But that won't count towards my Level 3 certificate! I have been contemplating attempting a full peal on the app, but that would take 3 hours, so maybe not!

Raccoon Class

Learning to fence!

An action packed term full of story writing, learning about becoming sustainable, investigating the meaning of Christmas for Christians and building on our outdoor skills. As well as learning to tie knots, build even better dens, make art from nature and design our own wind chimes, we have also learnt the basics of fencing with Miss Townsend, our Student Teacher! We even had a Zoom visit from Rev. Sarah Hillman to learn about the Christingle and made our own to take home. Raccoon Class go from strength to strength and have shown their creativity and resilience throughout the term despite all that is going on in the world around them! We even have a few plans about how to make a positive difference in our world! Spectacular effort all round.

At Milborne First School we like to promote 'fun learning'. The children love exploring and playing with the outside equipment. Our Reception class recently designed an obstacle course with some tyres and beams. They then decorated the beams before mastering their balancing skills.
